Peer Assistance for Learning (PAL) Program

Join the team!

What We Do

The Peer Assistance for Learning (PAL) program is a paid opportunity for Virginia Tech students, coordinated by the Cook Counseling Center (CCC). As Peer Assistants for Learning, students promote mental health awareness and connect their peers with resources. Through open conversations and outreach, PALs work to reduce the stigma surrounding mental health services.

PAL Responsibilities Include:

- Organizing and planning campus-wide events that promote mental health
- Staffing information tables during CCC events
- Giving presentations to various campus groups upon request about mental health topics
- Providing information about resources available to VT students

SCAN TO APPLY!

Applications are open from December 1st to February 2nd.
